

It's almost Gin O'Clock for me! Well done everyone for navigating one of the most complex weeks in Payroll History! Apparently amidst the crisis, new SSP legislation, Furlough leave, increases to NMW and more - you had the small task of payroll Year-End to contend with! WOWZERS!

Have a wonderful weekend!

Nick

My hat goes off to you all! You made it and the UK IS GETTING BEEN PAID!!

Here is the daily update summarising onversations that have taken place over the past 24-72 hours!

If you want anything included to be shared on the next update, please let me know by emailing me at Nick@jgarecruitment.com

HMRC Covid19 Webinar Notes

These notes were very kindly collated Ros Hendren following her attendance on the HMRC COVID-19 Webinar that took place yesterday

Kate Upcraft provides detailed information from the Cabinet Office

(She only wishes she had information like this from HMRC!) in respect to off-Payroll workers being included in the job retention scheme which was not what we had thought would be the case, although it isn't clear if they can be subject to reclaim as the will be funding dependent. Link

The paperwork: download it here

The definition is for the 250 employees and the reclaim of SSP it's the connected companies rule as we surmised: Link

A useful quote from HMRC responding to the fleet industry in respect to the unavailability of company cars: Link

Martin Lewis (our new not best friend in payroll!) says this is now an official statement from HMRC on widening the reinstatement pool to include those who have had a new job withdrawn due to COVID-19: Link

A Well Done From ME

I created a quick video on LinkedIn today - you can check it out here (any love or likes appreciated)

Essentially, I wanted to say a great well done to all the payroll professionals who have managed to navigate these choppy waters over the past few weeks - you are all an inspiration - as let's be honest, this must have been one of the most challenging weeks in payroll history!

Also, for back issues of these daily digests (or if you want to share them with colleagues) they are now being stored here so you can access them: Free Covid19 Daily Payroll Digest
